Bangladesh leather design
Bangladesh leather design
The leather industry in Bangladesh has a very long tradition and it can count on a skilful and hard working labour force. Bangladesh’s leathers, especially black Bengal goat skins, benefit from a high reputation in the international market due to their fine grain pattern, fibre texture and resilience. The richness of quality raw materials and the blend of tradition and skills offer to the industry a sound base for leaping forward into more value-added products and become an important international supplier of finished leather products, leather goods, accessories and footwear.

With this conviction, the International Trade Centre is cooperating with the business community and the Government of Bangladesh to strengthen the conditions for such development. What you see in this brochure is just a glimpse of the transformation that is underway. A group of selected small and medium size enterprises, and an artisansí community, have developed new products to show case their ability to match the requirements of demanding customers and their readiness to export into fashion sensitive markets.
A Bangladesh Leather Service Centre (BLSC) is backing up these industries efforts and achievements by providing the necessary support in areas such design and development, technical training, quality assurance and production management. Buyers and partners who seek opportunities to diversify their supplying sources and develop trade with the Bangladesh industry would be reassured by the availability of such range of services to their business partners in Bangladesh.

The International Trade Centre (ITC) is a joint agency of the World Trade Organization and the United Nations. Its goal is to help developing and transition economies to achieve sustainable human development through exports.

ITC supports the Bangladesh Leather Service Centre (BLSC) through a project funded by the Government of Italy.
