What sells in e-commerce: New evidence from Asian LDCs

Cross-border e-commerce can help least developed countries (LDCs) become more competitive and diversify their exports – and this is especially true for Asia-Pacific, the most dynamic region in global e-commerce. To capture that potential, small businesses in these countries need more market intelligence.

This paper uses market data from Alibaba.com to identify which products from five Asian LDCs – Bangladesh, Cambodia, Lao People's Democratic Republic, Myanmar and Nepal – can generate the most demand abroad.

How to reach Chinese e-consumers: A practical guide for small businesses

This report helps small businesses tap into the Chinese e-commerce market, which is the world's largest.

The publication recommends cross-border e-commerce, which allows opening stores in marketplaces rather than opening Chinese sites. It provides systematic instructions on the process, including logistics and payments.

New Pathways to E-commerce: A Global MSME Competitiveness Survey

This first ITC e-commerce survey provides valuable insights that will allow countries to shape policies and practices that address the real business needs on the ground.

To ensure that micro, small and medium-sized enterprises (MSMEs) can benefit from e-commerce, they need better access to e-platforms, payment and delivery services; streamlined customs procedures; and targeted skill building. These are the key findings from this ITC survey of 2,200 MSMEs in 111 countries.

Status, Opportunities and Challenges of BRICS e-commerce

BRICS countries – Brazil, the Russian Federation, India, China, and South Africa – are becoming increasingly important players in the global e-commerce market.

This joint report by UNIDO and ITC examines business-to-clients e-commerce markets in each BRICS country in the context of global e-commerce trends, analysing their growth trajectories, business ecosystems and regulatory frameworks. It identifies key bottlenecks for BRICS to further tap into their e-commerce potential and provides policy recommendations.

E-commerce in China: Opportunities for Asian firms

This joint ITC-Alibaba publication reviews e-commerce development in China and what is needed for foreign firms to enter the market.

Rapid growth in this area offers significant potential for neighbouring countries, especially small businesses in Asia, to increase their trade with China.

Available in: English

Bringing SMEs onto the e-commerce highway

This report is a starting point for public-private dialogue to address e-commerce bottlenecks, especially for small firms in developing countries.

Policy challenges affect small firms in four processes common to all: establishing online business; international e-payment; international delivery; and aftersales. Policy guidance checklists and case studies from e-commerce entrepreneurs in developing countries are included.

International e-commerce in Africa: The way forward

African enterprises can be successful in international e-commerce, if they are supported to address financial, infrastructure and socio-political barriers.

This report outlines common concerns of African small and medium-sized business owners, based on surveys, interviews and literature reviews. The report recommends public-private sector initiatives, institutional and corporate capacity building, shared structures and technology, and improved access to transport and logistics.
