WORLD CONFERENCE & AWARDS 2010

Hotel Camino Real Polanco
Mexico City, Mexico, 13 – 15 October, 2010

BUILDING EXPORT SUCCESS

ENHANCING TPO IMPACT IN A CHANGING GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT

The global economic crisis has increased the pressure on Trade Promotion Organisations, TPOs, to demonstrate the value they deliver in driving economic development and growth. The challenge all TPOs face is recording and reporting the impact their services have in beneficiary companies.

The 2010 TPO Network World Conference and Awards will focus on different alternatives available to face this challenge, and how TPOs can benefit from each others' experiences and practices. Some highlights of the event will be keynote addresses the Mexican Secretary of Economy on the five fronts of challenges Mexico has faced in the past two years and how they are overcoming them, from the President of the REDIBERO and WAIPA networks on the challenges the current global environment poses on trade and investment promotion, from the Inter-American Development Bank on what is the measured effectiveness of TPO services on SMEs and from a distinguished university researcher on the challenges to enterprise competitiveness in the Americas.

Join 150 representatives from TPOs and other specialised trade development bodies in the discussion of mechanisms that can provide solutions for TPOs to maximise the value they provide to their stakeholders and strengthen the economic and social health of their countries.
